

JEFF BAKER

Kaiser Permanente - Product Manager, HMO Products

“Nelson has been instrumental in the work that I have been implementing for several projects at the same time. His knowledge, attention to detail and ability is second to none. Despite short deadlines and difficult audiences, Nelson has always been able to get the job done! I truly value the ability to have Nelson on a team with me.”

BRIAN BUKOVICH

Kaiser Permanente – Senior Product Manager

“During the time I have worked with Nelson I have been most impressed with his keen ability to reduce ambiguity where it exists and his excellent communication skill. It’s this unique combination that sets Nelson apart from his contemporaries. For this reason alone, I would not hesitate to recommend Nelson to any company needing his skills.”

OLGA MAZO

Kaiser Permanente – Senior Product Manager

“I have worked with Nelson Duffle for about a year on different marketing communication projects. I can recommend him as a result-driven, creative and customer-oriented marketing professional with a high level of work ethics, ability to work independently and in teams, leverage his strong interpersonal and communication skills, and strong business acumen. Nelson has sound ability to handle multiple tasks, set priorities and meet deadlines. His high level of professional maturity and integrity and the ability to interact with internal and external senior management brought him a quick recognition in the organization and respect among his colleagues. He achieved strong grasp of Kaiser’s strategies, market positioning and products knowledge in a short time, and built strong professional relationships with various departments. It’s been pleasure to work with Nelson knowing that he’s your business partner you can rely upon and trust.”

ROB EAGAN

Fidelity Investments – Boston, Massachusetts

“Nelson and I worked together in sister groups at Fidelity. His ability to grasp concepts, apply them to the broader customer base, as well as customizing them for his own clients always amazed me. Always the ultimate gentleman, professional and owner of the "hardest working guy in the office" award. Nelson and I collaborated on more than a few client communications situations where he took my product knowledge and translated this into an easily understandable communications package for his client's 401(k) participants.”
